

A Beautiful Place To Sit, Relax and “Just Be”

Transform your backyard into a personal wellness retreat this fall with a soothing pond or beautiful waterscape. After all, one of the best ways to relax is through the tranquil effects of water.

There are several factors to consider when planning the perfect water feature for your outdoor space, including location, climate, and intended use. Some questions to consider include the following. Will your water feature house live animals, and, if so, how will you protect them from predators? Do you wish to attract other wildlife? How do you envision your family enjoying your waterscape?

Select a partner that is full service – one that can design your ideal escape as well as install it, and one that is fully insured and has both great references and great ideas. If you are interested in a maintenance contract, ask if your selected company has experience in maintaining water features, too. Lastly, make sure that your contractor is prepared to accent your water feature with the perfect accessories, like plants, fish, decorative stones, lighting, and even furniture.
